

ADVENTURE

Three cracked nuts,
One dark night,
Trek down the slippery hills.
Along with the usual mix-
Of excitement and fear.
A single torch
Was our only source of light
The steepness heightened our fears;
And the lack of friction only added to our tears
But, the leeches were our worst foes,
With their blood-sucking mouth's
They bit deep into our flesh
For which we obviously screamed,

And sent down echoes beyond the trees
Many a times we slipped and fell,
But I had my friends by me,
Who through did not bother to lift me up,
Through their laughter,
Helped me laugh over my downfalls
Though it was difficult and frightening,
Only sadness prevailed after it was done,
Because we knew it would take some time,
Before we got another adventure of this kind.

ADVENTURE

When the world embraces you with the breeze
At this time you should not think of ease
Get ready in the crease
Because there is less time for your life to freeze

When you explore the world sprawl
You will not survive if you crawl
Go for a long haul
For your intimate lonely soul

Go through the snow with your ski
For the enjoyment you need not pay a fee
Fearless adventure is the key
So beyond the horizons, you see.

ADVENTURE

An adventure, that's how I see my life
Full of twists and turns, nothing certain
The vehicle, my body, swerves at every hairpin
But, somehow always manages to stick on

Then come the cliff-hangers, moments of uncertainty
One false move, costing my life, my destiny
The roads offer many destinations, many choices
But it is I, who has to make them

It's not just my life, it's like everyone's Always an adventure, nothing certain
Although all are an adventure, there is a difference

ADVENTURE

When life makes sure
You've got more work than possible
There's always a witch lady
To give you a little more

To tackle this problem
I need to learn
To survive and to thrive
And to remove the cause

Taking this as an adventure
And doing a little better than good
I slowly tackle the issue
And wrote this poem

And I know I am done
With one of my tasks
But I also know that I have a lot more.

ADVENTURE

The only thing that comes to my mind when I heard the word “adventure”, is the trekking I did with my friends and family.

A back pack we carry at the back,
And the leach bites on our legs
Is again a wonderful experience to take back.

And with all this came fun in little pegs.
Adventure is any experience you face danger with delight,
Pain and learning would come along the way.
Adventure is the one thing you should not push away.

ADVENTURE

The story of my life goes far beyond
The depth of the five oceans
Filled with hurdles and cruisers.
Ructions and seditions.

Seeking for help in the journey of darkness,
Waiting for a hand in the trudge of loneliness.

Enchanted by the extravagant expression of love,
Crippled by the extreme extrusion of now.

Strengthening the salient 'so called me' and,
Adorning the sanguine Samaritan in me.

In the embodiment of struggle,
I question the infliction of life
For which the destiny lovingly replies that "I am in the abode of adventure".

ADVENTURE

Jack was a boy.

Jack didn't live by a beanstalk.

Jack never stole gold.

Jack was ordinary.

Then it happened.

Jack grew big black wings.

Jack's eyes turned blood-red.

Jack's skin turned pale.

Jack killed for money.

Jack domesticated exotic beasts.

Jack shot birds into castles.

Jack stole a temple idol.

Jack clashed royally.

Jack was a victim of VR.

ADVENTURE

An adventure is something
About which we all dream,
A journey full of amusement,
A wondrous journey through,
It is our own life in which we live,
Day to day is our journey.
We should survive to enjoy,
And enjoy the adventure.

The road is long
But the sky is calling take my hand
And we'll go exploring
Until the day we die
This must be our adventure and It's after all our LIFE !

ADVENTURE

I was floating in an abyss,
With nothing giving sight,
I was in the womb of nothingness,
Until I saw a searing light.
I could not bear it, so my eyes welled up,
Blinding light blinded me,
more than I could stand,
I handled it, and then I knew,
This was not my last stand.
I then realized I had to learn to learn,
Watching, hearing, thinking, feeling,
I thus learned to exercise my mind,
And I grew up, learning more every time.
I grew, and thus started to teach the world,

My actions were my lessons, they knew it already,
The world is a classroom, where lessons are gratis,
It is for everyone, and everyone is for it.
I thus grew weary, and tired beyond expression,
Due to my endeavors in my yonder life,
I shut my eyes, and embraced my old friend – darkness,
For I have finished the adventure of my life.

ADVENTURE

When I count the sands that says the time.
And look back at nature's crime,
And to see the days sunk in hideous nights,
To recall the days with alien knights.

A warrior I was, merged with mother nature,
Leading the race was my clueless future,
Climbing a mountain under the shadows darkest
With death approaching my soul fastest.

Earth below, sky above and fear within,
My physical state worthless by my sin,
With my grip lost, down I fell,
The pain that transformed earth to hell.

My adventurous reign had come to an end.
Life was tough and began to descend.

ADVENTURE

Adventure is nothing but everything,
A journey of amusement, fun and joy.
The adventurous journey gives the chill
Down the spine it gives a thrill.

The grit to look at the adversities
And say you are nothing short of illusion
Is the confidence built by the wondrous adventure,
If the right ounce is fed day by day.

Taking no chance to be non-adventurous
I chose the path of serving,
That I feel is the path of service to the Lord.
In the book of my life,
Oh Lord, give me the knowledge and spirit
To fill the pages with 'Love'

ADVENTURE

Palm trees are swaying Island style
Within the gentle trade winds blow
As pecans glide on salty air
The land where verdant grasses grow

Breather in sweet scent of rose
And let fine mist caress your face
Dive deep into aqua waters
Become enchanted with this place

And board on wild waves of surf side
Cast your cold and scares to the breeze
Sailing on sunset cruises
Take home warm memories.

ADVENTURE

Life – an adventure by itself.
We learn to be brave, to believe,
to hope and to help.

Scenic path or path full of challenges
Choice of the road decides your destiny.
Take time, think and decide.
For once the choice is made
It can't be undone so easily.

Finding yourself in the unknown land
At times or many times,
It is norm of life!
No it is the norm of adventure!
No life = No adventure

ADVENTURE

Along an unknown path
Far away from the place I called home
Voices summon me in the distance
Forcing me to claim my destiny
A new me unfolds through the lessons learned
Under the strings of fate
It reaches to the light within me
I escaped the normal, the ordinary
I have reached the summit
I have conquered myself
Adventure would have hurt me
BUT
Monotony would have killed me.

ADVENTURE

A little adventure
Will get your adrenaline going
What you see next
You're often knowing.

Imagine a thick forest Completely remote
Or a great brimming river
Where you glide and float

It's still an adventure
A random Sunday ride
No destination required
And neither a guide

Enjoy these few moments
Of the wind in your hair
Breath in and savour
The fresh breezy air

Any adventure. You're free to choose
As long as it's fun, you'll never lose..
